Form 990, Part III, Line 1 - Organization Mission

South Asian Youth Action (SAYA) is a 501(c)3 youth development organization providing valuable life skills and holistic, impactful programming to underserved New York City youth. As one of the first South Asian organizations created in the United States, SAYA is the only organization of its kind in the NYC metropolitan area providing inclusive and secular comprehensive youth development services while centering our community's experiences. Established in 1996, we currently provide programming at eight elementary, middle, and high schools in Queens and Brooklyn, along with our Elmhurst-based community center - serving a growing number of youth each year.

Our mission is to foster a strong sense of belonging in youth and provide them with tools to thrive academically, professionally, and personally. Through our innovative, holistic approach, we work toward educational equity by providing opportunities to less privileged youth, ensuring they are academically, emotionally, and socially prepared to become engaged members of the community. Our consciously designed offerings provide ongoing individually adapted support and mentorship. During their time at SAYA, youth build vital social and emotional learning (SEL) and academic skills, as well as a sense of belonging and community which will help them thrive throughout their journeys.

SAYA youth come from diverse ethnic and religious backgrounds, and many of our participants are first and second-generation youth of color who face numerous barriers that hinder their chances to be academically and socially successful, graduate high school, and attend college. These young people live in under-resourced neighborhoods, and many first-generation parents confront language barriers, societal obstacles, and a lack of familiarity with American culture and the education system. As a result, they are at a disadvantage when it comes to helping their children navigate the complexities of adolescence tied to growing up in the United States. Taking our youth's individual abilities and challenges into account, SAYA works to meet their needs and improve outcomes through personalized and meaningful mentorship and guidance.

For over 27 years, SAYA has developed expertise around the needs of the youth we serve and provided a nurturing community of support. Our free, year-round comprehensive programming is distinctive in providing a holistic balance of leadership and identity development; academic support - particularly preparing for educational transitions including elementary to middle, middle to high school, high school to college; career exploration; and sports, arts, and STEAM activities. Our model is also unique in providing empowering, affirming peer support alongside ongoing mentorship from staff. The SAYA experience offers scaffolded and differentiated programming so that youth continue to attend and learn year over year, confidently growing into engaged community leaders ready for academic, social, and personal success.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a - Program Service Accomplishments

This past year proved again the resilience and dedication of our youth and staff. Between July 2021 and June 2022, over 1,950 youth in elementary, middle, high school, and college participated in SAYA programming. During this period, our participants continued to make strides in multiple areas, including developing leadership skills and gaining critical social and emotional learning (SEL) competencies that have shown to have a long-term, positive impact.

Research has shown programs using this approach result in: i) better academic performance, ii) improved attitudes and behaviors, iii) fewer negative behaviors, and iv) reduced emotional distress. (Durlak, J. A., Weissberg et al, 2011, meta-analysis of 200 school-based SEL programs involving 200,000 K-12 youth). Through SAYA-authored surveys, youth in kindergarten to 8th grade showed an average rating of 4.0 out of 5.0 in relation to their perceived enjoyment and learning of SAYA programming. Within our community center programming, 100% of our high school seniors graduated and were accepted into college, while 96% of our college students remained on track to graduate within five years. In addition, 18 youth in our college access programming in 2022 were granted education aid through our scholarship fund, an individual donor-supported initiative

Throughout our work, we understand the importance of self-care and ensuring our young people dedicate time to activities that ground them outside of academic work. In addition to academic and leadership programming, SAYA program facilitators continued to grow our wellness and self-care efforts through increased one-on-one check-ins and small group discussions. In 2022, SAYA was awarded funding from the Asian American Federation and Coalition for Asian American Children and Families in support of multiple wellness initiatives. As part of these programs, our youth took part in non-violent mediation training, healing workshops, discussion, self-care activities, and mentorship.
